CURRAN SAYS HYLAN SOUGHT 7 CENT FARE

Approved of Plan When He Introduced Shonts to Hearst's Lawyer.

STRAPHANGERS MISLED

Coalition Candidate Presents Testimony to Prove Assertion.

HOODWINKED TAXPAYER

Underground Influence That Guided Mayor's Unsteady Hand Is Shown.

The charge that Mayor Hylan secretly conferred with the traction interests and was planning to foist a 7 cent fare upon the people of the city was the keynote of five speeches made by Borough President Henry H. Curran, coalition candidate for Mayor, last night in a tour which began in the middle of Brooklyn street, Manhattan. Mr. Curran charged the Mayor also with having broken his word and faith with the voters on eight important matters and occasions. "He has deceived the school children," he declared, "fooled the taxpayer and hoodwinked the rent payer."

Crowds which gave him complete attention and supported the charges he made with unstinted applause greeted Mr. Curran at each of the gatherings where he spoke. The principal and most enthusiastic meeting was at the Real Estate Exchange in Brooklyn, where he spoke at a combined meeting of the First, Third and Eighth Assembly District Republican clubs. His other Brooklyn meetings were at the Congress Club, the Boy Ridge High School and Stauch's Hall at Coney Island.

Hylan Talks, Public Walks.
At the meeting in the Real Estate Exchange Mr. Curran said:

"It has taken only one week to demonstrate the kind of a campaign Mr. Hylan is making to back up his demand that you allow him to enjoy four years more as Mayor of New York. I have shown you eight different promises that he made to us four years ago, and I have proved that he broke every one of them. Eight times he gave you his word and eight times he broke his word. He has deceived the school children, fooled the taxpayer, and hoodwinked the rent payer. Now I am going to show you how he has tried to fool the strap hanger."

"Remember that Mr. Hylan is not a strap hanger. He is talking about in his limousine talking about the five cent fare while you and I struggle for a strap."

"One of Mr. Hylan's principal troubles is in talk. I have shown you that while he talked the public walked. I will show you now that while he talked about the five cent fare he was working for a seven cent fare. He did everything he could to boost the fare up to seven cents and I challenge him to deny it. You and I are going to fight for a five cent fare and we are going to keep it. We are not going to be fooled by a man who talks five cents and acts seven cents."

"Here is the story of the deal that Mayor Hylan tried to work out with Mr. Shonts, president of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, to saddle a seven cent fare on the strap hangers of New York. I am going to stick to the record in what I say about this, just as I have stuck to the record in everything else."

elaboration of the things that they had done in Boston and what they were trying to do in Chicago.

Assured Shonts of His Job.

"Now, remember that at the time (August, 1918, according to the testimony) of these conferences between Mr. Hylan and the traction magnate except the conferees, Mr. Shonts and Mr. Hylan were very friendly, so friendly, in fact, that Mr. Hylan promised Mr. Shonts that if the plan went through the trustees would see to it that Mr. Shonts did not lose his job. Here is Mr. Shonts' testimony on this point:

"The Mayor asked me how I personally felt about the situation, and I said that all I could say was that until Mr. MacFarland's views were worked out concretely I could not say any more than that I would be in a receptive mental attitude. The Mayor then made some complimentary remarks about myself, that if this change was made it did not necessarily mean my elimination from the situation."

"During these conferences Mr. Hylan kept dangling out the 7 cent fare, and Mr. Shonts kept calling on the Mayor, urging him to hurry MacFarland up, so that the Interborough could begin to get the extra two cents. Mr. Shonts testified that the Mayor said:

"There must be some solution of this whole problem, Mr. Shonts, and I think we should lay aside all our prejudices and get around a table and get down to facts to figure out a solution; I think that is the way to do it."

"And this statement Mr. Hylan has never denied. What happened to the plan I do not know. But I do know what is happening under the MacFarland plan in Boston. I'll tell you about that tomorrow night. Here is what Mr. Hylan said about his plan for a seven cent fare when the story leaked out and he was caught with the goods:

"The abnormal conditions created by the war are not going to last forever. I did, therefore, make a counter suggestion to Mr. Shonts that some temporary relief plan might possibly be worked out of the best features of the Boston plan and of the one suggested for Chicago, having in mind mainly the operation of the traction lines by trustee to be appointed by the Governor of the State or the Mayor of the city, with a proper regard for the public interests."

"Now, where is Mayor Hylan's five cent fare issue?

"Our people will stand for an increased fare," said the Mayor. "I tell him now that they won't, whether he runs the railroads or somebody else runs them."

MOTORISTS RISK CARS

NEAR BLAZING FOREST

Rode to Seashore Under Canopy of Sparks and Smoke.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 22.—Firemen here were called on this afternoon to assist the volunteers at Absecon, when a forest fire two miles beyond Absecon threatened the countryside. The fire is believed to have been caused by sparks from a railroad engine igniting dry brush.

Automobile tourists en route to the shore for a time rode under a canopy of sparks and blazing embers and a pall of smoke hung over an area of two miles. The fire is still burning to-night, but is under control.

FAT WOMEN TO WALK FROM GARDEN TO-DAY

An athletic event entitled "the walk of the fat women" is to be held this morning, starting at 10 o'clock from Madison Square Garden under supervision of Miss Elsie Thompson, head nurse of the Health Department's fat reducing squad, as far north as Fifty-ninth street. From then on, the fifty women comprising the squad will be instructed to go it on their own till they drop.

This is the first public walk that the squad has taken since Dr. Royal S. Copeland, Health Commissioner, organized it to show what proper application of cultural exercises designed as hip reducers can accomplish. The squad will wear regulation gymnasium costumes, consisting of short skirts and blouses and walking boots, and leg it up Madison avenue, inhaling deeply every ten steps. There is quite a grade near Forty-second street, and Miss Thompson hasn't much hope that many of the squad will be able to struggle further on than Fifty-ninth street.

MISS HOLT, ARTIST, TO WED.

Mother Announces Her Engagement to Haldeman Finnie.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Mrs. Charles S. Holt announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Isabella Holt, to Mr. Haldeman Finnie of Detroit. Miss Holt is an artist of repute, and her first novel, "The Marriots and the Powells," was issued on Thursday. Many of her portraits have been exhibited. She formerly was president of the Junior League and was active in Y. M. C. A. work in France during the recent war. Miss Holt and her mother will sail November 5 from New York for a trip abroad.

HAYS WILL BE SPEAKER.

Improvement of the postal service in this city will be discussed by Postmaster-General Will H. Hays at the annual dinner of the Fifth Avenue Association, in the Waldorf, November 15. Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith will be toastmaster and will discuss the plans for port development.
